BOSS CLINICIAN, LLC
THE BOARDROOM MASTERMIND — EVERGREEN EXECUTIVE ADVISORY AGREEMENT
Effective date: 11/01/2026

This Executive Advisory Agreement (“Agreement”) is between Boss Clinician, LLC (“Company”) and the enrolled practice owner or authorized business representative (“Participant”). It governs The Boardroom program and incorporates the specific offer and individualized terms accepted by Participant in their completed enrollment record (“Enrollment Record”). The Boss Clinician Terms of Use at https://www.bossclinician.com/terms also apply. In a direct conflict concerning Boardroom scope, fees, term, cancellation, or refunds, this Agreement and the accepted Enrollment Record control, except as required by law.

1. EXECUTIVE ADVISORY SCOPE
The Boardroom Mastermind is a twelve (12)-month group executive peer-advisory experience intended for established mental-health practice owners. Its purpose is to support strategic leadership, profitability, systems, capacity, hiring and delegation, owner sustainability, and long-term organizational growth. Included features, to the extent included in Participant’s accepted Enrollment Record, may include the Boardroom CEO Assessment, existing nine-section CEO Dashboard, Living Business Plan, 90-day executive priorities and quarterly reviews, scheduled group mastermind sessions, Executive Circle, Executive Resource Vault including Boardroom-only leadership/HR resources, and designated Practice Elevation Course content.

The Boardroom Mastermind is a twelve-month, application-based evergreen executive advisory experience for established mental health group practice owners. Applications are accepted year-round, with individual admissions offered following a discovery call when an appropriate seat is available. The program provides structured group strategy sessions, quarterly intensives, individual CEO strategy sessions, guest expert sessions, and ongoing advisory support as described in this Agreement. The program provides business education and strategic advisory services. It does not include done-for-you business operations, insurance credentialing, legal representation, accounting services, or ongoing practice management unless separately agreed to in writing. The included Boardroom Mastermind experience is peer-led strategic work facilitated by Boss Clinician rather than a lecture-based course. It includes: (a) four quarterly strategic intensives accessible during each Participant's individual twelve-month term, each lasting approximately three to four hours, using members’ current challenges and facilitated peer hot seats; (b) eight 60-minute momentum check-in calls accessible during each Participant's individual twelve-month term, ordinarily held in months without a quarterly intensive; (c) two private 45-minute CEO strategy sessions per member in the twelve-month term, comprising an initial CEO Strategy Reset and a Midyear Executive Review; (d) two guest-expert sessions during each Participant's individual twelve-month term, featuring professionals chosen according to the needs of the cohort, with topics and speakers determined by Boss Clinician; and (e) the opportunity to submit up to two voice-note questions each month, with Company responses targeted within two business days, excluding announced closures and holidays. The membership uses peer hot seats as the primary format. Admission is by application and discovery call on a rolling basis as seats become available, with a maximum of eight concurrent members. An additional full-day annual CEO intensive is not included or guaranteed. Optional CEO experiences may be offered virtually or in person, including alongside FlourisHealer events, but retreat admission, accommodations, travel and other retreat benefits are excluded unless expressly stated in a separate offer. The Company will publish a rolling session calendar and program access procedures. The Company will offer the four quarterly intensives, eight momentum check-ins and two guest-expert sessions during each Participant's individual twelve-month term. If its scheduling would otherwise prevent a Participant from accessing a contracted session, the Company will offer a reasonable equivalent or a limited access extension to deliver that benefit, without additional tuition, subject to applicable law. The two private 45-minute CEO strategy sessions are included; additional private sessions are not included unless separately agreed in the accepted enrollment offer. The nine-section CEO Dashboard includes CEO Snapshot, EHR + Capacity, Team + Pay, Hiring Decision Lab, Owner Pay + Step-Back, Cash Strategy, Compensation/Raise/Benefits Scenarios, Scenario Lab, and CEO Report. EHR + Capacity entries use Participant-provided figures; no live EHR integration, financial audit, bookkeeping service, or independently verified dataset is promised. The shared Practice Elevation Course is educational content, not a second Boardroom-exclusive course.

2. TERM, UNIVERSAL PRICING, AND PAYMENT OBLIGATIONS
The Boardroom is an evergreen, rolling-admission program. Each Participant purchases a fixed twelve-month term beginning on the individual Program Start Date and ending on the Program End Date accepted in their Enrollment Record, regardless of when other members join. There is no common cohort start date, and the term does not renew automatically. The Participant’s total investment, pay-in-full or installment option, initial payment, scheduled amounts and due dates, discounts, applicable taxes or lawful disclosed fees, and term dates are those specifically presented and accepted in the accepted Enrollment Record. Those transaction-specific terms are part of this Agreement.

The Company may change published pricing, introduce promotions, or offer different plans for FUTURE enrollments. That does not automatically alter this Participant’s accepted total investment or payment obligations. Any changes to an active Participant’s obligations require a lawful written amendment and any required consent. A pay-in-installments arrangement pays the agreed fixed-term tuition; it is not a cancel-anytime monthly subscription. Charges are authorized only according to the disclosed, accepted schedule. There is no automatic renewal into another Boardroom term without a separately disclosed and authorized agreement.

If an installment fails, Company may provide written notice and seven (7) calendar days from notice to cure or establish an approved written payment arrangement. Subject to applicable law, unresolved nonpayment may lead to suspension of advisory and portal access. Suspension alone does not cancel valid outstanding installment obligations. Any collection efforts must be lawful; no undisclosed finance charges, late fees, collection costs, or automatic acceleration of not-yet-due installments are authorized.

3. ADVISORY DELIVERABLES AND PARTICIPANT RESPONSIBILITIES
Participant is expected to complete the CEO Assessment, enter reasonably accurate baseline financial/operational data, and maintain a Living Business Plan. The program may use up to three 90-day executive priorities in each successive planning period and related monthly steps, decision records, or accountability tools, as supported by the platform and accepted offer. Advisory discussions may cover hiring, team design, compensation, financial scenarios, business independence, revenue strategy, and leadership.

Participant retains final responsibility for payroll, tax, employment law, HR and clinical compliance, insurance contracting, professional standards, business contracts, and implementation. Company does not act as attorney, accountant, tax advisor, investment advisor, licensed HR professional, psychotherapist, or clinical supervisor in this program; it does not manage the Participant's practice. Nothing guarantees particular revenue, profit, growth, staff retention, business value, or results.

4. CONFIDENTIALITY, PRIVACY, AND PROTECTED BUSINESS INFORMATION
Participants may share nonpublic business finances, staffing details, management concerns, and strategic information. Each Participant agrees to protect other members' confidential nonpublic information learned through the program and not disclose it without authorization, unless permitted or required by law. Because group participants are independent parties, confidentiality among peers cannot be absolutely guaranteed.

Participants must not upload or disclose identifiable client information or protected health information. Sensitive employee matters should be appropriately de-identified.
Member-provided business metrics and dashboard entries are planning inputs, not audited reports. Company may retain access-restricted advisory notes and member records in line with its published privacy practices and lawful retention requirements. AI-supported analysis, if offered, requires applicable disclosures, consent and safeguards; none is guaranteed as a contracted feature.

5. SESSION SCHEDULING, RESCHEDULING, AND PARTICIPATION
Private advisory sessions must be rescheduled or canceled at least forty-eight (48) hours before the appointment, using the designated scheduling system or support@bossclinician.com. Timely rescheduled appointments may be moved to an available time within the active program term. A private session canceled or rescheduled with less than 48 hours' notice ordinarily counts as used and is not automatically replaced.

A missed private session counts as used. Late arrival does not extend the scheduled end time; arriving more than fifteen (15) minutes late without communication may be treated as a no-show. Exceptions for genuine emergencies or extraordinary circumstances may be granted case by case. If Company cancels a scheduled private session, it will offer a replacement without penalty and, if reasonably needed, a scheduling extension to deliver it.

Group calls follow the rolling published calendar. Voluntarily missing an accessible group session does not entitle Participant to a one-on-one makeup. If Company scheduling prevents access to a contracted group session, Company will provide the reasonable equivalent or limited extension described in Section 1. Replays may be available if produced and appropriate to share. Unused private sessions do not automatically roll over, convert to cash or credits, or extend the purchased term. Advisory support is not unlimited, on-call, emergency, or done-for-you work. Substituting another attendee is not permitted without Company's prior written approval.

6. PROFESSIONAL CONDUCT, LAWFUL COMMUNICATIONS, AND INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY

Participants will not engage in harassment, threats, intimidation, unlawful discrimination, unauthorized disclosures of others' confidential business information, infringement, or knowingly false statements of material fact. Nothing prevents truthful positive or negative reviews, honest opinions, lawful criticism, regulatory complaints, communications with legal counsel, or participation in legal proceedings. Participants need not contact Company before leaving a lawful review and will not be penalized solely for protected feedback.

All original Boardroom assessment tools, dashboards, videos, frameworks, advisory materials and templates remain Company's or the relevant owner's intellectual property. Participants may adapt materials expressly designated customizable for authorized internal practice use. They may not share account credentials, resell, redistribute, republish, or bundle program content into competing commercial offerings without written permission.

7. FIXED-TERM COMMITMENT, NO VOLUNTARY REFUNDS, AND NO EARLY RELEASE

Subject to applicable law and express written exceptions, all Boardroom payments are final and nonrefundable. Voluntary nonattendance, dissatisfaction with results, schedule or business changes, and a decision to stop participating do not create a right to a prorated refund, program credit, or early release from valid installments. Participant may cease attending but remains responsible for valid amounts payable under the accepted Enrollment Record. This is not a month-to-month cancelable membership.

This policy does not eliminate nonwaivable rights or remedies, including those arising from a material breach or failure by Company to provide agreed services. A proposed exception or early release is effective only if Company approves it in writing. No cancellation fee or accelerated payment of future installments is imposed by this paragraph.

8. TERMINATION, PAYMENT DEFAULT, AND COMPANY NONPERFORMANCE

Company may suspend or terminate access for material violations including continued payment default, serious harassment or confidentiality breaches, unlawful conduct, or unauthorized redistribution of proprietary materials. For issues reasonably capable of correction, Company will ordinarily issue written notice describing the issue and provide seven (7) calendar days to cure. Company may suspend immediately when reasonably necessary to protect the community or confidential information, subject to applicable law. Termination for Participant breach does not alone extinguish valid payment obligations.

If Company materially cannot deliver a contracted service, it will reasonably attempt replacement services or another appropriate resolution. Participant retains any legal right to relief if Company materially breaches and fails to remedy the breach. Company's no-refund provision does not override such rights.

Upon expiration of the Participant's individual Program End Date or lawful earlier termination, access to the Boardroom CEO Headquarters, educational resources, calls, replays and community ends, except for a separately agreed limited delivery extension or as required by law. Participant should export any personal business plans or dashboard reports the system permits before access ends.

9. LIMITATIONS AND AGREEMENT CHANGES
The Company provides strategic education and advisory support, not guaranteed business outcomes or regulated professional services. Any liability limitations in the applicable Terms of Use remain subject to governing law. Program-specific amendments, including service scope or individual price, must be documented and accepted as legally required. If any provision is unenforceable, the remaining provisions should continue to the extent permitted by law.

10. ACCEPTANCE
By electronically signing, Participant confirms that the complete Agreement, Terms of Use, and individualized Enrollment Record have been supplied for review; they understand the fixed term, investment, installment schedule, 48-hour private-session policy, no-voluntary-refund/no-early-release policy, access limits and no automatic renewal; and they agree to the terms, subject to applicable law.
