

From Profile to Profit

GET YOUR THERAPIST PROFILE NOTICED

Strategy guide to level up your online therapy directory profile

Table of Content

PAGE 3

Introduction

PAGE 4

Online Directory List

PAGE 8

Nail Your Nice

PAGE 10

Writing Tips

PAGE 11

About Me Broken Down into Paragraphs

PAGE 16

Example About Me

PAGE 17

Take Action

Online Directory INTRODUCTION

In today's digital age, having a strong online presence is important for therapists like you to connect with potential clients. Being listed on directories for therapists not only increases visibility but also establishes credibility and trust. These directories serve as valuable resources for individuals seeking therapy, offering them a comprehensive database of qualified therapists tailored to their specific needs and preferences. The information you gain will be helpful when creating your website and social media presence.

Click Here for video Tutorial

Online Directories to consider

Psychology Today: Join today to get 6 months free then $29.95 a month

Therapy for Black Girls: Join Here $25 a month

Good Therapy: Join Here starting at $30.95 a month

TherapyDen: Join Here free to join

Open Path Collective: Join here to offer sliding scale sessions

I do profit from some of the links on this page

THINGS TO CONSIDER BEFORE CHOOSING AN ONLINE DIRECTORY FOR THERAPISTS

Reputation and Credibility

Research the directory's reputation within the mental health community and ensure it upholds professional standards.

Audience Reach

Evaluate the directory's user base and demographics to determine if it aligns with your target clientele.

Search Capabilities

Assess the directory's search filters and algorithms to ensure your profile can be easily found by potential clients.

Cost and ROI

Consider the cost of listing on the directory and weigh it against the potential return on investment in terms of client acquisition.

User Experience

Evaluate the directory's interface and user experience to ensure it is intuitive and user-friendly for both therapists and clients.

Additional Features

Explore any additional features offered by the directory, such as appointment scheduling, client reviews, or marketing tools, that can enhance your visibility and attract clients.

PROFILE BREAKDOWN

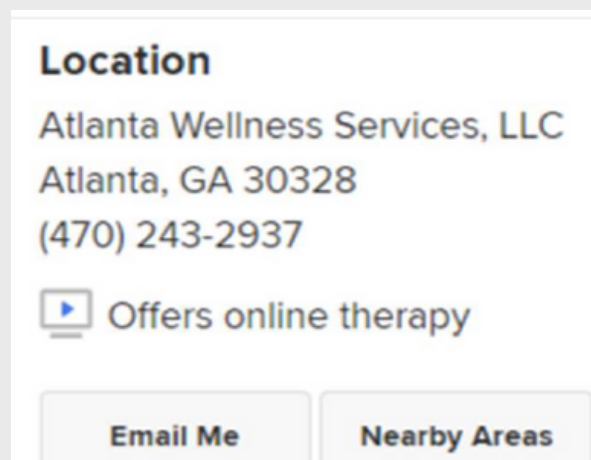

Basic Information

- Name
- Credentials
- Gender Pronouns
- Photo
- Website
- Social Media
- Contact Information

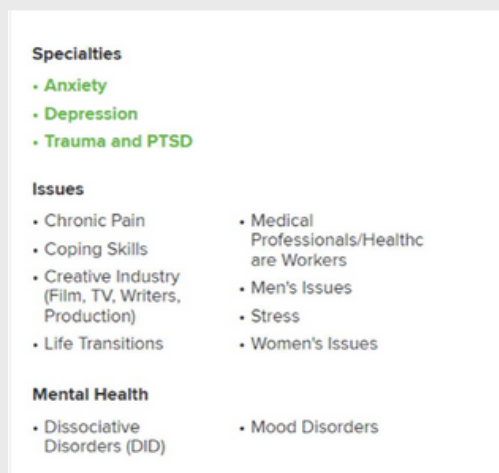

Important Searchable Information

- Location
- Telehealth
- Insurance

- Specialities
- Client concerns/issues
- Mental Health Disorders

Filters

Treatment Approach

- Types of therapy
- Modalities

Treatment Approach

Types of Therapy

- Adlerian
- Attachment-based
- Cognitive Behavioral (CBT)
- Culturally Sensitive
- Dialectical Behavior (DBT)
- EMDR
- Ego State Therapy
- Hypnotherapy
- Internal Family Systems (IFS)
- Multicultural
- Somatic
- Strength-Based
- Trauma Focused

Modality

- Individuals
- Couples
- Family

Client Focus

- Age Group
- Communities
- Language

Client Focus

Age

- Elders (65+)
- Adults
- Teen

Communities

- Body Positivity
- Cancer
- Gay Allied
- Lesbian Allied
- Racial Justice Allied
- Transgender Allied

Remember, when choosing filters

- Don't try to be everything to everyone.
- Keep your list of specialties short.
- Choose filters that your ideal clients will use to find your services.

Let's Nail Your Niche

When you start to think about your ideal client, consider what makes you stand out and who you enjoy working with (your favorite client).

What do you have experience treating?

What are you already trained in?

What skill and/or modalities are you excited about learning and putting into practice?

What demographics and special populations do you identify with?

Which demographics and special populations do you enjoy working with?

What are the painful problems your special populations have?

How do you help with the painful problems?

Put it all together

I help _(Ideal client)_ who struggles with (pain point) by _(how you help)_____

I help _____ who struggles with _____ by _____

Example

I help therapists who struggles with fear of starting their practice take the guesswork out of setting up a profitable private practice so they can focus on helping their clients and building their dream lifestyle using my 5 step reFRAME Blueprint.

About Me Section

Writing Tips

Craft your message tailored specifically to your target audience.

Evoke emotions through your language to establish a deeper connection.

Employ everyday language that resonates with your ideal client's understanding.

Broken down into 3 paragraphs

Paragraph 1: Client Focus

Address your ideal client's biggest pain points.

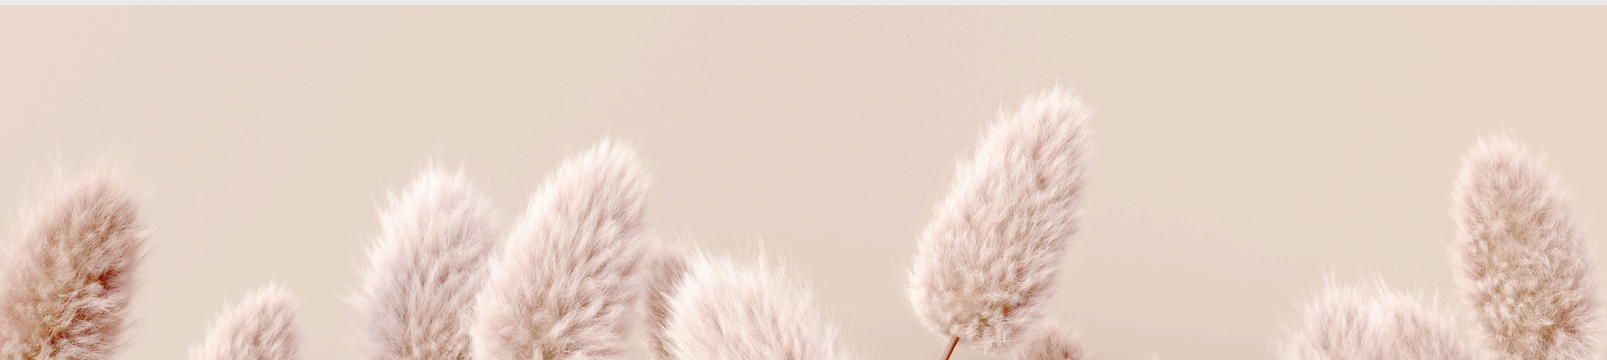

Paragraph 2: Your Value(s)

Tell your ideal client why you are uniquely qualified to help.

Paragraph 3: Call-to-Action

Provide a clear and compelling call-to-action to get in touch..

Each paragraph is about 250 characters each

Paragraph 1

Client Focus

Open with a couple of questions using (key words/pain points) that get to the heart of your ideal client's issues.

Two or three additional statements describing emotions, thoughts, behaviors, symptoms or situations that your ideal prospective client is experiencing.

Conclude with a strong statement about how you can help them address their issues.

Example

Have you experienced symptoms of anxiety, depression, trauma, or are you overwhelmed? Are you unable to reduce the emotional charge of a traumatic event?

You may experience inability to sleep or sleeping too much. This may impact personally, professionally, or both. Counseling can often shed light on what you're experiencing to help you develop coping skills, manage strong emotions, and even reduce the emotional charge of a traumatic event. Since everyone is unique, we will work collaboratively to create a treatment plan designed just for you to meet your goals. ~Lauren Stinson

Prompts

Opening questions:

- Do you feel [negative emotion]?
- Are you having trouble [engaging in positive activity]?
- Do you feel life [specific concern]?
- Are you experiencing [specific problem]?
- Is [specific negative emotion] getting in the way of [specific positive experience]?
- Are you struggling with [specific problem]?

Closing Statement:

- I can help you address [issues] so that you can feel/achieve [positive emotion/outcome].
- Together, we can get to the root of the issue so that you can live without [issues].
- In [therapy modality], I can help you identify the source of the [issues] so you can experience [positive emotion].

TIP #1

To spark interest in your profile, it's crucial to dedicate the initial 200 characters to describing your ideal client.

Many platforms feature only the first few sentences of your profile, making it essential to craft those opening lines to captivate potential clients, enticing them to delve deeper into your profile and, ideally, reach out to you.

Paragraph 2

Your Value

Tell them why they should trust you.

Align your values with their values.

Tell them about your therapeutic approach.

Tell them why you are uniquely qualified to help them address their issues.

Showcase any special training or personal experiences that makes you stand out.

Example

*If you need a calm, accepting environment to process out what is creating negative symptoms, I utilize evidence-based approaches that match each client's needs. I offer talk therapy, as well as more specialized approaches to treat trauma(s), such as Somatic and Attachment Focused EMDR and Hypnotherapy. I am certified in EMDR an EMDR Consultant in Training.
~Lauren Stinson*

Prompts

- I use [therapeutic approach], a technique that helps [mental health concern] by [specific technique]
- My [unique experience/special expertise] can help you [achieve life goal/positive emotion.]
- I am passionate about [what's important to you as a therapist] and believe [what you value as a therapist].

TIP # 2

Avoid overly technical or formal language in your therapist directory profile, as it may not connect with your ideal client. Instead, opt for everyday language and phrases that resonate with your ideal client and are easy for them to understand.

Paragraph 3

Call to Action

Tell your prospective clients what you offer.

Walk them through the process of getting started with therapy.

End with a clear and concise call-to-action for your prospective clients to book a consultation or schedule an appointment.

Example

I am currently offering telehealth sessions on a HIPAA compliant professional platform at this time. Please email or call me to book an appointment. I look forward to supporting you on your journey. ~Lauren Stinson

Prompts

- I offer [therapy services].
- We will work together to create a treatment plan that [addresses for your unique needs].
- Book a [ten-minute phone call] to find out if we are a good fit.

Example About Me Page

Have you experienced symptoms of anxiety, depression, trauma, or are you overwhelmed? Are you unable to reduce the emotional charge of a traumatic event? You may experience inability to sleep or sleeping too much. This may impact you personally, professionally or both. Counseling can often shed light on what you're experiencing to help you develop coping skills, manage strong emotions, and even reduce the emotional charge of a traumatic event. Since everyone is unique, we will work collaboratively to create a treatment plan designed just for you to meet your goals.

If you need a calm, accepting environment to process out what is creating negative symptoms, I utilize evidence-based approaches that match each client's needs. I offer talk therapy, as well as more specialized approaches to treat trauma(s), such as Somatic and Attachment Focused EMDR and Hypnotherapy. I am certified in EMDR an EMDR Consultant in Training.

I am currently offering telehealth sessions on HIPAA-compliant professional platforms at this time. Please email or call me to book an appointment. I look forward to supporting you in your journey.

TIP # 3

People want more insight into who you are than just reading about you. Most therapist directory profiles allow you to upload a 15-second video to give your audience a little taste of you as their potential therapist. Those therapists who have video intros will be prioritized in local teletherapy searches, so we must do so.

Record Your Introduction Welcome Video

- 1) Login to your Psychology Today profile
- 2) Please watch the short video they've provided about how to make sure your intro looks great (in case you need more to reference)
- 3) Prepare your 15 second 'script'. This is very short, I know.

Video Script

- Your name (of course) (Hey/Hello I'm _____)
- Where you practice (Owner of _____)
- 1-2 main specialties you'd like to highlight
- Something about how you're here to support people during this trying time (optional; may use this instead of specialties)
- "I look forward to meeting you" (or something along those lines)

Example Video

You are ready to take action!

Apply the insights gathered from this strategy guide as you begin crafting your profile. Once completed, remember to review it thoroughly, ensuring the inclusion of compelling elements that will appeal to your target audience.

Here's an additional tip: If you're listed on multiple therapists directory platforms, streamline the process by copying and pasting your new profile across each platform.

Need additional support?

Click here to have Yvette give her expert opinion and review your profile to make sure your profile is set up for success.

